DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on May 10, 2004 has been entered.

Election/Restrictions

Newly submitted claim 6 is directed to an invention that is independent or distinct from the invention originally claimed for the following reasons:

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-5, drawn to server system/method storing/registering/notifying/updating information, classified in class 463, subclass 40.
- II. Claim 6, drawn to method of informing status, classified in class 463, subclass 29.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention II has separate utility such as merely inquiring as to availability status of a system user, rather than managing personal data to the detail claimed in claims 1-5. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group II is not required for Group I, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Since applicant has received an action on the merits for the originally presented invention, this invention has been constructively elected by original presentation for prosecution on the merits. Accordingly, claim 6 is withdrawn from consideration as being directed to a non-elected invention. See 37 CFR 1.142(b) and MPEP § 821.03.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claims 1 – 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Tang et al. USP 5,793,365 (Tang). Tang teaches a system for providing communication between a plurality of people, including a profile for each user and a plurality of information services. The communication system registers the plurality of people and displays image representations of the people and their current activity to all participating users. Regarding the added limitations to the preamble/environment of use of the game machine directed to the information including whether the user is a child, such language fails to distinguish over prior art which shows the claimed structure. Claims 2 & 5 (similarly) structurally recites a game machine comprising a display controller that displays the personal information transmitted and Tang clearly illustrates that structure.

Response to Arguments

In response to applicant's arguments, the recitation of whether the user is a child has not been given patentable weight because the recitation occurs in the preamble. A preamble is generally not accorded any patentable weight where it merely recites the purpose of a process or the intended use of a structure, and where the body of the claim does not depend on the preamble for completeness but, instead, the process steps or structural limitations are able to stand alone. See In re Hirao, 535 F.2d 67, 190 USPQ 15 (CCPA 1976) and Kropa v. Robie, 187 F.2d 150, 152, 88 USPQ 478, 481 (CCPA 1951). Further, note the reference to Williams et al. which teaches, in a game environment, iconically represented profile information wherein when creating an icon to represent oneself, age is considered. Thus, younger players may create young icons. Other prior art cited to the record includes age as a searchable profile element when locating players online. These references would become applicable should applicant structurally recite the child/age designation in a manner limiting to the inventive system defined by the claims. It is also noted that the advisory action mailed in response to the amendment when first proposed informed applicant the claim language was not limiting to the claims.

Conclusion

All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the application prior to the entry of the submission under 37 CFR 1.114 and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the application prior to entry under 37 CFR 1.114. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action after the filing of a request for continued examination and the submission under 37 CFR 1.114. See MPEP § 706.07(b). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
